TARGET CENTER

Originally conceived as a way for Timberwolves owners Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner to make a significant contribution to Minnesota, Target Center, with a basketball capacity of 18,500, has fulfilled that ambition while also becoming the heart of the city's downtown entertainment district.

In addition to serving as the home court for the Timberwolves, Target Center also plays host to a diverse group of sports and entertainment events. Included among the wide range of events slated for the Target Center in its inaugural season are: Billy Joel, Sesame Street Live, World Wrestling Federation, Walt Disney's World on Ice, the Harlem Globetrotters, Ice Capades, The Moscow Circus, and the United States National Figure Skating Championships.

These events will take place in one of the world's most unique settings. Target Center features a complete health club, a full service restaurant, adequate parking, a 12-ft. by 16-ft. video replay board and a restroom-to-patron ratio triple that of most new arenas. The building also offers excellent sightlines, handicapped accessibility and comfortable, theater-style seats.

TARGET CENTER FACTS

- Designated completely "no smoking." The arena will also exclude tobacco advertising anywhere in the building.
- Located in the heart of downtown, only two blocks from the center of the thriving Minneapolis business district.
- More than 11,000 parking spaces surround Target Center within a three block radius.
- The lobby can accommodate approximately 2,000 people.
- There are 15 ticket windows to ensure prompt service.
- The lobby ceiling is a gigantic neon sculpture with intricate and spontaneous patterns continually changing.
- Theater-style cushioned seats provide the viewer with maximum comfort; for center-staged events, there is seating capacity for more than 20,000. Each seat has approximately two more inches of hip and leg room than traditional arena seats.
- More restroom accommodations than any other arena in the country. Target Center averages one unit for every 45 customers, with 60 percent of the restroom facilities designated for women; most arenas average one unit for every 172 customers.

- 105 points of sale, almost double that of most arenas.
- There are 114 wheelchair locations in the upper and lower levels. Amplified listening devices to assist the hearing-impaired are available by calling the Target Center box office in advance. A Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) phone number to box office has been designated, and coin-operated telephones with amplified listening devices are positioned throughout the arena. Special printed programs will be transcribed in Braille for several sporting and entertainment events.
- The arena has the first movable floor in the country which includes ice-making capabilities. The floor can be raised or lowered five feet in 25 minutes to ensure excellent viewing and tailored sightlines for each event.
- A special 12-ft. by 16-ft. four-sided, center-hung, color video display provides the viewer a high-resolution, close-up view of the event—and replays—from any seat in the house.
- The Arena Health Club at Target Center is the 13th in the chain of Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs located throughout the Twin Cities. The club is approximately 160,000 square feet.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES' PHILOSOPHY

The Minnesota Timberwolves are excited about the opportunity to bring NBA entertainment to the Twin Cities and are dedicated to building a franchise that all of Minnesota can take pride in. The goals for the organization are:

- To earn the respect and support of Minnesota and make a positive impact on the Upper Midwest's quality of life.
- To provide top-quality service at all times.
- To create an atmosphere of excitement, action and entertainment at every Timberwolves game.
- To establish a long-term commitment to quality, both on and off the court.
- To build a state-of-the-art environment for professional basketball with Target Center, a world-class arena.

To the Timberwolves, quality and service are more than promises. They are a way of life. To you, the members of the media, we appreciate the opportunity to accommodate your needs while covering the Timberwolves and the NBA.

STAFF

HARVEY RATNER & MARV WOLFENSON

OWNERS

Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson realized a lifelong dream as the NBA returned to Minnesota in 1989 after a 29-year absence. This year, the two lifelong business associates will continue their goal of enhancing their community with the opening of the new Target Center in downtown Minneapolis.

The Timberwolves' inaugural season success came as no surprise to anyone who has followed the pair's business dealings. Over a 39-year association, Ratner and Wolfenson have been synonymous with success in the Twin Cities.

In 1963 they launched what have become 13 racquet and exercise facilities. The Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs average 170,000 square feet and have grown to an active membership of over 110,000 with approximately 1,200 employees. They are the most successful facilities of their type in the country.

The pair have also developed the largest family-owned apartment group in the Upper Midwest. Approximately 3,000 apartment units have been built and operated by Ratner and Wolfenson.

The style of Ratner and Wolfenson is to be actively involved in all of their ventures, while relying on and supporting key staff members. That support is evidenced by the fact that many employees have worked for them throughout their adult lives. Ratner and Wolfenson have been friends since childhood. Loyalty is important to each, who have been equal partners in every business venture they began since 1952. They have never undertaken an unsuccessful project.

They support many Twin Cities charities including the Crisis Nursery Center, Groves Learning Center, Minneapolis Children's Medical Center, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship and the Minneapolis Federation. As supporters of the arts, Ratner and Wolfenson purchased and then donated the Mixed Blood Theatre building and contribute to the Walker Art Center, Minnesota Orchestra, Minneapolis Institute of Arts and the Fine Arts department of the University of Minnesota. They sponsor the men's and women's tennis teams at the University of Minnesota and provide the Northwest Racquet Clubs as the teams' home court facilities.

Harvey and Barbara Ratner have four children—Mark, Edward, David and Rachel. Marv and Sandy Wolfenson have three children—Ellyn Stein, Ernie and David.

BOB STEIN

PRESIDENT

Running an NBA franchise is the latest challenge in the diverse and distinguished career of Bob Stein. With the Timberwolves, Stein, who played a key role in bringing the NBA back to Minnesota after a 29-year absence, has a wide range of duties. He handles contract negotiations, collaborates with Billy McKinney and Bill Musselman in player personnel decisions and is also responsible for the day-to-day operation of the club. Stein, who finished fourth in The Sporting News balloting for 1990 NBA Executive of the year, is also responsible for the development of the Timberwolves' new Arena in downtown Minneapolis, the Target Center, and its management.

Stein has long been associated with the Minnesota sports scene, dating back to his days as a standout defensive end at the University of Minnesota. He was an All-American defensive end selection in 1967 and 1968 as well as being an All-Big Ten pick in 1966, 1967 and 1968. He was also honored for his work in the classroom where he was an Academic All-American in 1967 and 1968 and a three-time member of the Big Ten All-Academic squad while earning a bachelor's degree in Political Science.

After graduating in 1969, Stein continued both his football and academic careers. He was drafted in 1969 by the Kansas City Chiefs and remains the youngest man (21) to play in a Super Bowl after helping the Chiefs defeat the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl IV. He played eight NFL seasons.

While a member of the Chiefs, Stein attended the University of Missouri Law School on a full-time basis, graduating in the top 10 percent of his class in 1973. He began practicing law in 1974, while still playing in the NFL. His law practice went full-time in 1976 upon his retirement from football. During his legal career, much of Stein's practice was in the professional sports area, where he represented dozens of top professional athletes.

Stein remains active in many civic and charitable organizations in the Twin Cities area and has volunteered many years of service to University of Minnesota projects. Stein and his wife, Ellyn, have four children—Lauren, Brooke, Carly and Ben. They make their home in Edina, Minn.

TIM LEIWEKE

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF SALES AND MARKETING

After spearheading the Timberwolves' record-breaking attendance efforts last season as Vice President of Marketing and Sales, Tim Leiweke will move up to the added responsibility of Executive Vice President this year.

Leiweke and attendance records have always gone hand in hand. Under Leiweke's marketing and sales expertise, the Timberwolves established an NBA attendance record for a single-season as they drew 1,072,572, an average of 26,160 per game. The Timberwolves became the all-time single-season leader among basketball, football and hockey teams and joined the Detroit Pistons as the only non-baseball teams to draw over a million fans in a single season.

The 33-year-old St. Louis native came to the Timberwolves from the Kansas City Comets where he served as the Major Indoor Soccer League team's President from 1986-88. It was Leiweke's second stint with the Comets and where he first established his reputation as one of pro sports' brightest young marketing minds, as the Comets averaged over 12,000 fans per game. Leiweke originally joined the Comets in 1981-82 as Vice President and General Manager.

He gained his first experience in professional sports with two other MISL franchises, the St. Louis Steamers and the Baltimore Blast. As Assistant General Manager with the Steamers, the club averaged over 14,000 fans per game their first season (1979-80), a league record for a new franchise. One year later, Leiweke became the youngest general manager in professional sports when, at age 24, he took that post with the Blast.

Leiweke was also involved with starting a company outside of professional sports in 1984 when he became Vice President of Leiweke and Co., a Kansas City-based marketing and consulting firm. There, he was responsible for coordinating diverse events, including a 1984 Presidential debate, four tours of the 1984 U.S. Olympic gymnastic and volleyball teams, concert promotion, activities of the University of Kansas athletic department and several other associations in the Kansas City area.

LEN KOMOROSKI

DIRECTOR OF CORPORATE SALES

After joining the Timberwolves front office in June of 1988 as Manager of Corporate Services, Len Komoroski was promoted to his current position of Director of Corporate Sales last season.

Komoroski's responsibilities include coordinating publications and corporate tie-ins. Komoroski will continue to be in charge of the Timberwolves' game-day operations, a task that includes coordinating entertainment, music and halftime festivities.

A 30-year-old native of Pittsburgh, Komoroski came to the Wolves from the Minnesota Strikers of the Major Indoor Soccer League (MISL) where he was the club's assistant general manager. Komoroski has a vast array of experience in the sports industry. He served as regional manager of the Miller Brewing Co. Sports Group in Chicago after a stint with the Civic Arena Corporation in Pittsburgh. He began his career in his hometown of Pittsburgh by serving internships with baseball's Pittsburgh Pirates and the Pittsburgh Spirit of the MISL.

BILLY McKINNEY

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

In just two years as the Wolves' director of player personnel, Billy McKinney has enhanced his reputation as one of basketball's most astute judges of talent. McKinney played a key role in assembling the inaugural Timberwolves from scratch, a team that posted a 22-60 record, the best among the expansion teams. In addition to overseeing the club's scouting efforts, McKinney is pivotal in all of the club's player personnel decisions, including the college draft and trades.

The 35-year-old McKinney came to the Timberwolves from the Chicago Bulls where he finished his seven-year NBA playing career and spent the 1987 season as Assistant Vice President of Basketball Operations. After being drafted by Phoenix in the sixth round in 1977, McKinney played for Kansas City, Utah, Denver and San Diego before going to Chicago. He averaged 8.0 points and 3.5 assists per game before he retired in December of 1985 to take an assistant coaching position with the Bulls. In 1986-87, McKinney served as a Bulls assistant coach and special assignment scout.

McKinney remains the all-time leading scorer at Northwestern, where he earned degrees in education and sociology in 1977. He led the Wildcats in both scoring and assists for each of his four seasons while becoming a two-time team MVP. He was twice selected All-American and earned All-Big Ten honors three times. McKinney was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame in 1988.

A native of Zion, Ill., McKinney has long been active in working with charitable groups. While in Chicago, he was involved with numerous organizations, including being a board member for the Marillac House, a renowned Chicago center for homeless teenagers. He has also worked extensively with the Boy Scouts of America, Easter Seals, the United Negro College Fund, and S.T.O.P. (Sports Teams Organized for Prevention of Substance Abuse). In the Twin Cities, McKinney has become involved with the Timberwolves Inner-City Youth Basketball Clinics and has worked with Goodwill Easter Seals of Minneapolis.

He also gives corporate motivational speeches and seminars for companies throughout the Upper Midwest. McKinney resides in Plymouth, Minn., with his wife, Laurie.

BILL MUSSELMAN

HEAD COACH

Bill Musselman surprised many NBA experts in 1989-90 when he guided the Minnesota Timberwolves to a 22-60 record in their inaugural season. That mark was tops among the four current expansion franchises and was also better than the 17-65 record of the established New Jersey Nets.

So it came as no surprise when a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters voted Musselman sixth among the 27 league coaches in balloting for the 1990 Digital NBA Coach of the Year.

Musselman, 50, enters his second season with the Timberwolves looking to build on the successes of the 1989-90 campaign. And one of the biggest accomplishments of last year has become the trademark of the Wolves—solid defensive play. Minnesota ranked second in the NBA in team defense in their inaugural season and was one of only two teams (along with Detroit) to hold its opponent under 100 points per game. In addition, the Wolves and the Pistons became only the fourth and fifth teams in the last 12 years to finish the regular season with a defensive average of under 100 points per contest.

Named the first head coach of the Timberwolves on August 23, 1988, Musselman joined the organization four months after capturing his fourth consecutive CBA championship. In 1987-88, his final season in the CBA, Musselman guided the Albany Patroons to the league title and posted a 48-6 regular season mark, the top winning percentage (.889) in pro basketball history. He was CBA Coach of the Year in 1986-87 and 1987-88 and posted the best winning percentage in pro basketball from 1985-88, including post-season play, at .758 (197-63). By winning four straight CBA championships in that span, Musselman became only the second coach in pro basketball history to win that many in a row (Red Auerbach led the Boston Celtics to eight consecutive NBA titles from 1959-66).

Musselman has coached basketball on all levels—high school, small college, NCAA Division I and is the only man to have coached in four professional basketball leagues (NBA, CBA and the defunct American Basketball Association and Western Basketball Association). He has a lifetime coaching record of 507-325 (.609), and a 295-258 (.533) mark in the professional ranks.

From 1971-75, Musselman provided the University of Minnesota with one of its most exciting basketball eras. The Gophers went 69-32 in those four seasons including the 1972 Big 10 crown, the school's first outright conference title in 53 years. After placing third in the NCAA Midwest Regional that same year, the 1972-73 Gophers won a then-school record 21 games (21-5), finishing second in the Big 10 and earning a berth in the National Invitational Tournament. Musselman's .683 winning percentage at Minnesota is tops in school history.

His coaching career began in Ohio, serving one season at Kent State High School before moving on to Ashland College where he brought that small school into national prominence with a 129-30 record (.811) in six seasons. It was there that Musselman earned his reputation as an outstanding defensive coach as his 1968-69 team set an NCAA record by allowing just 33.9 points per game.

A native of Wooster, Ohio, Musselman attended homestate Wittenberg University, lettering in basketball, baseball and football. He went on to Kent State University where he earned a master's degree and served as a volunteer assistant in basketball and graduate assistant in football.

Musselman, who maintains a home near Sarasota, Fla., currently resides in Plymouth, Minn. During his spare time he enjoys attending movies, playing racquetball and tennis and working out. His family includes son Eric, a Timberwolves' assistant coach, and daughter Nicole, a student at Southern Methodist University.

TOM THIBODEAU ASSISTANT COACH

Tom Thibodeau is back for his second season as a Timberwolves assistant coach. He is responsible for working with players on individual skills development as well as serving as a bench coach. A graduate and former basketball standout at Salem (Mass.) College, Thibodeau was an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Harvard University for four years prior to joining Bill Musselman's staff. At Harvard, he arranged scouting assignments and scheduling, prepared scouting reports and game plans, recruited scholar-athletes and coordinated individual player development sessions. He also spent four years on the basketball staff at his alma mater, Salem, including the 1984-85 season when he served as head coach.

While an undergraduate at Salem, Thibodeau was on the school's Dean's List and was captain of the basketball team. He then went on to earn a master's degree in counseling.

Thibodeau, 32, is single and resides in Minneapolis.

ERIC MUSSELMAN ASSISTANT COACH

Eric Musselman begins his first season as an NBA assistant coach after spending last season as the head coach and general manager of the Rapid City Thrillers of the Continental Basketball Association.

With Rapid City, Musselman posted a record of 42-14, the second-best mark in the history of the CBA, and led the Thrillers to the league championship series before losing to La Crosse. Musselman began his CBA career in 1988-89 as the Thrillers' general manager before assuming the dual responsibilities of general manager and coach for the 1989-90 season. He became the CBA's youngest head coach ever when he was named to that post at the age of 24.

When Musselman took over as general manager of the Thrillers in 1988, he inherited a team with the CBA's worst record (16-38) and quickly turned it into the league's best team (38-16) through a series of trades. In his first year as the Thrillers' G.M., he made 19 trades—including six on his first day on the job—to facilitate the turnaround.

After graduating from Brecksville (Ohio) High School, Musselman played collegiately at the University of San Diego where he made two appearances in the NCAA tournament. He was also a member of two West Coast Athletic Conference championship teams and earned conference all-academic honors three times.

After earning a degree in political science in 1987, Musselman took a job with the Los Angeles Clippers where he worked as an account executive before becoming the club's assistant director of scouting under Elgin Baylor and Gene Shue. Musselman did extensive research for the 1988 Draft that landed the Clippers Danny Manning, Charles Smith and Gary Grant. He also served as a consultant for the Timberwolves in their inaugural draft.

Musselman, 25, is the son of Timberwolves Head Coach Bill Musselman. He is single and lives in Minneapolis.

DAVE PRITCHETT ASSISTANT COACH / VIDEO COORDINATOR

After joining the Timberwolves last January as an assistant coach and video coordinator, Dave Pritchett begins his first full season with the club.

Pritchett, 47, is responsible for establishing and building a video library of opponents' offensive and defensive alignments as well as the strengths and weaknesses of all NBA teams and players. He will also serve as a bench coach.

Prior to joining the Timberwolves, Pritchett spent the previous four-plus seasons as an assistant coach at Oral Roberts University. He has also been an assistant at Virginia Commonwealth University, Boston College and the University of Maryland. In addition, he was head coach at Davidson (N.C.) College from 1976-78.

Pritchett and his wife, Judy, have three sons and make their home in Richfield, Minn.

JIM BREWER SCOUT

Former University of Minnesota great and 12-year NBA standout Jim Brewer joined the Timberwolves scouting staff on a full-time basis last November. Brewer's duties include traveling around the United States scouting and evaluating all levels of basketball talent.

INAUGURAL SEASON IN REVIEW

NOVEMBER (3-12): November featured many firsts for the expansion Timberwolves. Coach Bill Musselman's team made its NBA debut on Nov. 3 at Seattle, a 106-94 loss; played their first home game in the Metrodome on Nov. 8, a 96-84 loss to the Bulls; and registered their first win on Nov. 10, a 125-118 overtime decision against the 76ers. The Wolves averaged 24,828 fans in their first seven home games, putting them on pace to break the expansion attendance record established by Charlotte in 1988-89. In the win over Philadelphia, guard Tony Campbell and forward Tyrone Corbin both hit for career highs in points, with 38 and 36, respectively. Minnesota registed its second win, 101-98 over Golden State, on Nov. 14. Sam Mitchell (25 points) and Scott Roth (22 points) gave the Minnesota offense a lift in that victory. Campbell led the club with a 24.4 ppg average, and scored 31 points to lead the way in a 105-100 win over Miami on Nov. 29.

DECEMBER (3-11, 6-23): The month of December opened on a high note for the Timberwolves with a 27-point victory at Cleveland and a home court win over New Jersey. But just as quickly, the team's fortunes took a turn in the opposite direction. Minnesota dropped a club-record nine consecutive games, including two heartbreaking overtime losses to division front runners Indiana and the Lakers. The streak ended when the Wolves turned in one of their finest performances of the season in beating Houston, 108-91. Through 29 games, the Timberwolves allowed their opponents to score 100 or more points just 16 times and had a defensive average of 101.5 points allowed per game, which ranked fifth in the NBA. The Wolves' NBA-leading home attendance of 24,024 in 15 games kept the franchise on pace to break the expansion attendance record of 23,172 per game set a year earlier by Charlotte. Tony Campbell was Minnesota's leading scorer, averaging 23.3 ppg. Rookie Sam Mitchell was second on the club in scoring with 17.3 ppg average. Forward Tyrone Corbin paced the Wolves in rebounding, averaging 7.1 per contest.

JANUARY (3-10, 9-33): The Timberwolves' record for the month was not entirely indicative of the way that Bill Musselman's club played. Minnesota was very competitive, losing four games by two points or less, and six by 10 points or less. January did end on a high note as the Timberwolves won back-to-back games at the Metrodome, downing Sacramento 109-91 and Seattle, 110-82. Guard Tony Campbell continued his consistent play for the Wolves, leading the club in scoring 10 out of 13 games and averaging a team-high 23.6 ppg. Another positive story in the backcourt was the emergence of rookie Pooh Richardson, who moved into the starting lineup against the Kings and scored 20 points and dished out 10 assists to lead the Wolves to victory. Two nights later, during the win over Seattle, Richardson picked up a career-high 12 assists. Tyrone Corbin and Sam Mitchell were the Wolves' main forces off the boards, averaging 6.8 and 6.5, respectively.

FEBRUARY (6-7, 15-40): The expansion Timberwolves turned in their finest month of the season by posting a mark only one game under .500. The highlight of the month was a stirring 116-105 victory over the Celtics on February 2, a game played before a franchise-record 35,713 fans at the Metrodome and televised nationally on TNT. The Wolves put together a club-record winning streak of four games, with home wins over Charlotte, Indiana, Atlanta and Houston. The Wolves' seven losses were by an average of 7.6 points, including a heartbreaking 110-104 overtime road loss at Utah and a last-second 95-93 defeat at New Jersey. Guard Tony Campbell continued his impressive play, averaging 23.2 points, 3.2 assists and 6.4 rebounds in 13 February games.

MARCH (5-12, 20-52): Heading into the final three weeks of the regular season, the Timberwolves sported the most wins among the four expansion teams. One of Minnesota's big moments in March came on the 17th when the Wolves played before 43,606 fans at the Metrodome in a thrilling 101-98 loss to the Lakers. That represented the top crowd of the season in the NBA to date and was the eighth-largest of all-time. The Timberwolves also registered a pair of road victories during the month, a 110-105 win at Portland on March 25, which snapped the club's 22-game road losing streak, and an 84-82 victory at Dallas. Guard Tony Campbell, who scored in double figures in each of the Wolves' first 72 games, averaged 23.1 ppg during the month to lead the team. Also chipping in were forward Tyrone Corbin, with 15.8 ppg and 7.8 rpg, and rookie guard Pooh Richardson with 17.0 ppg and 8 apg. With ticket sales running at 981,000 through the end of the season, Minnesota—which leads the league in attendance—will shatter the NBA single-season expansion record of 950,065 set a year ago by Charlotte.

APRIL (2-8, 22-60): The Timberwolves began the final month of their first year with one of their biggest wins of the season, a 92-90 upset of the eventual Midwest Division champion Spurs at San Antonio. Tony Campbell led the upset with 27 points. Later in the month, Minnesota won its 22nd game of the season as they downed Orlando, 117-102, before 45,458 fans at the Metrodome. After going 2-8 in April, Minnesota ended the season with a 22-60 mark, the best record among the NBA's four newest teams. The Wolves averaged 45,141 fans per game in their final three home contests to wrap up the NBA attendance title and become the league's all-time single-season attendance leaders with a total of 1,072,572. Minnesota ended the season second in the NBA in team defense, allowing just 99.4 points per game. Tony Campbell was named the team's Most Valuable Player, with Tod Murphy earning Defensive Player of the Year honors. Forward Tyrone Corbin and his wife, Dante, were honored for their work in the community.

September 3 – October 17, 1986

The announcement that deposits will be taken for a possible Minnesota NBA team brings 8,746 commitments in a 43-day period. The outstanding community response is a key element for an October 20 presentation to NBA officials.

October 20, 1986

Ratner, Wolfenson and attorney Bob Stein make a formal proposal to gain a franchise at the NBA governors meeting in Phoenix, Ariz. After proposals by communities, governors name an expansion committee to submit a recommendation at a later date.

December, 1986

A "Name the Team" contest is held. An overwhelming response brings 6,076 entries featuring 1,284 different nicknames. "Timberwolves" was selected by a 2-to-1 margin over "Polars" in a vote of the 842 City Councils throughout the state.

February 20, 1987

The Minneapolis City Council approves a plan for a new arena to be built in downtown Minneapolis, located on First Avenue North between Sixth and Seventh Streets. Completion of the Arena, to be owned by Timberwolves owners, Ratner and Wolfenson, is scheduled for the 1990-91 NBA season. The Timberwolves announce they would play until that time at the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome.

April 3, 1987

The NBA Expansion Committee recommends Minnesota be granted an NBA franchise for the 1989-90 season.

April 22, 1987

The Board of Governors votes unanimously to expand the NBA by four teams—Miami and Charlotte in 1988-89, Minnesota and Orlando in 1989-90. The purchase price of $32.5 million is announced.

June, 1987

Bob Stein is named Timberwolves President.

Summer, 1987

The club conducts a contest to design the Timberwolves' official logo—over 2,600 entries are received while some come from as far away as Norway, Alaska, Florida and California.

NBA SALARY CAP

The salary cap that will apply to NBA teams for the 1990-91 season will be $11,871,000, an increase of approximately $2 million over last season's cap of $9,802,000.

In addition, in order to ensure that the NBA players receive 53 percent of league revenues, the minimum team salary that teams will be required to spend will be raised to $9,610,000, up from last year's $7,935,000.

The determination of the salary cap and minimum team salaries are made each July 31 on the basis of formulas set forth in the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the league and the Players Association.

The salary cap of $11,871,000 and the minimum of $9,610,000 will apply to all teams except for Minnesota amd Orlando, which began play a year ago as expansion teams. For Minnesota and Orlando the cap will be $8,903,000 and the minimum $7,208,000 (three-quarters of the league figures).

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA Playoffs, the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record regardless of division. The first round is best-of-5 and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-7.

In every series the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matchups, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First-Round are Team 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals, the winner of Team 1-8 plays the winner of Team 4-5 and the winner of Team 2-7 plays the winner of Team 3-6.

The Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-7 series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June of 1983 in a vote by the NBA Board of Governors effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowance for 16 teams qualifying for the playoffs and the elimination of the first round bye (formerly known as the best-of-3 miniseries) for division and inclusion of the First Round best-of-5 series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

GENERAL

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The Timberwolves believe that it is an obligation to become an important asset for the community they represent. The team places a major commitment to community and charitable activities in the Twin Cities area, as well as the entire Upper Midwest region.

Heading the community relations effort is the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, a 501 (c)(3) public charity. The Foundation is designed to aid groups and organizations which assist and serve mentally and physically handicapped individuals, as well as financially limited youth. Foundation events include: The Annual Benefit Game, Project Rebound, Night Moves and Make-A-Wish special projects, among others. Requests for program information and financial support can be made to: Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, Target Center, 600 First Avenue North, Minneapolis, MN 55403; or by calling (612) 337-DUNK.

Following is a closer look at some of the community relations programs in place for the 1990-91 season:

Courage Center

The Courage Center promotes independence, self-esteem, and dignity for people with physical or sensory disabilities. The Timberwolves are supporting the Courage Center by promoting and outfitting the men's and women's "A" basketball team The Rolling Timberwolves.

Make-A-Wish

The Timberwolves work with Make-A-Wish on a project-by-project basis. Two of the biggest projects last year were: 1) A video Valentine from Timberwolves and Charlotte Hornets players to a young girl with cancer; 2) Provide a young boy with the opportunity to attend a game with his parents and go behind the scenes to the locker room to visit with our players one-on-one.

Minnesota Special Olympics

The Timberwolves raise money for the Minnesota Special Olympics in three ways: 1) Timberwolves Hoop Festival at Lincoln Centre; 2) Proceeds from program sales; 3) A Burger King promotion. Every time a customer purchased a Kids Club Meal from 3/12-3/20/90, Burger King donated 10 cents to MSO.

Hospital Visits

The Timberwolves make a concerted effort to visit patients at local hospitals, on both a team and an individual basis. During the Holiday Season, the Timberwolves, Nestle, and 99.5 WLOL Radio sponsored a Children's Hospital tour.

Night Moves

Night Moves is a summer midnight basketball league in St. Paul designed to involve young men and women in a positive night-time activity. Once a week, motivational workshops will be conducted featuring professional and collegiate athletes, civic leaders, educators, and community members.

NBA College Scholarship

The Timberwolves and the NBA award two $1,000 college scholarships to high school seniors living within a 75-mile radius of the Twin Cities.

Project Rebound

This program is aimed at at-risk inner-city 7th and 8th graders. Each student receives merchandise incentives for every week of perfect attendance as well as motivational talks by players.

Tix for Kids

Season ticket holders donate unused tickets back to the Timberwolves, who in turn distribute them to youth charities and organizations. In 1989-90, over 8,000 tickets were distributed through this program.

Target Community Section

At each 1989-90 game, 50 seats were set aside for the Community Relations Department to distribute to worthy community groups throughout Minnesota. During the 1990-91 season, 100 seats will be available.

Speakers Bureau

The Timberwolves provide members of the front office staff, CRUNCH, the Reebok Performance Team, and Timberwolves players as speakers for functions, community groups, and charitable organizations.

Basketball Camps and Clinics

The Timberwolves offer 15 free scholarships to our week-long camps each summer. In addition, the Timberwolves hold free summer clinics in both Minneapolis and St. Paul.

1991 International Special Olympics

The Timberwolves donated over $250,000 from the club's first exhibition game against the Los Angeles Lakers on Oct. 18, 1989. The Lakers also donated $10,000 to the event.

TELEVISION/RADIO

Fans throughout the Upper Midwest will be able to enjoy the excitement of the NBA thanks to an extensive network of television and radio stations which will air Timberwolves games in 1990-91.

Television

The Timberwolves are partners with KSTP-TV (Ch. 5) and Fox 29 KITN-TV to provide 25 live telecasts this season. KSTP-TV, Hubbard Broadcasting's ABC affiliate, will carry eight games, while Fox 29 KITN-TV, owned by Nationwide, Inc., will air 17 contests. Both stations are available throughout much of Minnesota and western Wisconsin, while other areas in the region are serviced by eight other stations. Games will also be seen on these Timberwolves Television Network affiliates:

Timberwolves Radio Network

The Timberwolves have one of the largest radio networks in the NBA with over 40 partner stations in 1990-91. The flagship is AM 1130 WDGY in the Twin Cities, a Malrite Communications station. Helping build the network and responsible for signal distribution is MNN Satellite Distribution, a unit of the MNN Radio Networks, Inc. All 82 regular season games, along with the eight preseason contests, will be carried by WDGY and many other network affiliates. All affiliates will carry a majority of the 1990-91 Timberwolves schedule.

TIMBERWOLVES CORPORATE PARTNERS

A major reflection of the corporate philosophy of the Timberwolves team and Target Center is found in their approach to sponsor programs. It is consistent with the approach taken by a number of industry leaders in many of its aspects, in others it is more aggressive than that of any other sports entertainment facility or team. The approach utilizes packages which are inclusive, and integrate all the elements which the team and Target Center can offer to promote the products and services of sponsors. From television, radio, signage, publications and client entertainment to retail promotions, trade incentives and participation in charitable/community service projects, sponsor packages provide an unusually integrated and close association. There is a relatively small number of corporations involved in these programs, founded on the principle that they should have a positive impact on the sponsors bottom line.

The Timberwolves have formed exclusive corporate partnerships with the following organizations:

ACI Long Distance
American Dairy Association
Burger King
Carlson Travel Network
Coca-Cola
Creamette
D.C. Hey
Digital Equipment Corporation
Domino's Pizza
Elliott Auto Supply
